

HOLIDAYS WILL BLOOM FOR KERR

Despite reports Miranda Kerr (above) was flying to London to see hubby Tom Cruise last week, the model is in New York City for the holidays. She was seen around the city being photographed outside a Starbucks on Saturday. Kerr, Victoria's Secret's 2013 Angel, tweeted on Sunday that she was in New York. But she and Cruise are said to be in London to meet for the holidays. He began his romance with the South African model in 2006.

IT'S TOUGH IN THE DEMI MONDE

After a legendary night of partying with Lenny Kravitz at Art Basel's Dec. 5 opening and endless rumors of an on-off romance with 26-year-old art dealer Vito Schnabel throughout the weekend, 50-year-old sex symbol Demi Moore walked out of a Miami Beach Starbucks Sunday (above) looking like she could use a little caffeine. The big art show ended Sunday.

PHELPS IS STILL HUNGRY

Michael Phelps has retired from swimming, but not from eating. The 18-time gold medal winner reportedly ordered 10 different dishes at Fix Restaurant in Las Vegas Saturday. One patron marveled as Phelps (above) scarfed down wings, chili cheese fries and whatever else floated his way. Phelps was joined by his mom as well as poker pro Antonio Esfandiari. Hockey legend Wayne Gretzky was also in the house.

PH IS HUNGRY

COWELL, GAVANKAR: L.A. STORY

"True Blood" star Janina Gavankar and cold-blooded talent judge Simon Cowell were snapped (above) leaving Cececoni's restaurant in Los Angeles over the weekend. Though no other photos of the pair seem to exist, the 53-year-old Cowell did tweet "hello trouble" to the 32-year-old stunner in mid-November, to which she coyly replied, "who me?? #DefinitelyMe." Cowell had been rumored to be seeing Carmen Electra, but after her performance at XL nightclub Sunday, she assured Confidential, "We're just friends."
